

The Kazoo

Not in This Issue

Joust mascot actor revealed as Hope student
New marijuana major to be added to curriculum
"Because of its popularity, a screening process is in place to weed out weak students."

Calvin football has yet another undefeated season.

THE UNOFFICIAL STUDENT NEWSPAPER OF CALVIN COLLEGE SINCE 2019 | APRIL 1, 2019 | Volume 1 - Issue 1

Student Union plans to feature full fledged waterpark

BY MONSIEUR BON JOER
Raff Steporter

As part of Calvin Coolidge University's future expansion plans, the aptly named Student Union will now accommodate a full scale water park.

"In order to make the $120 million dollar additions worthwhile, we thought we might as well throw in a waterpark," Archbishop Lichaël Meroy shouted.

The waterpark aims to draw more playful incoming freshman and fresh-ladies to Calvin. "The first thing I look for when deciding which college I should attend is how many buildings are consecutively linked together, rather than if tuition is reasonably priced" Gurchus High School senior Dormy Staniels crooned.

The holy waterpark features a slothful river passing by all the parts of the new Student Union. Mastor Perry, dressed in her formal preacher garb (gray suit, plaid tie and robe), rides the slothful river on her way to administrative meetings. In addition to the waterpark, the Student Union is 90 percent administrative offices and lounge areas. The waterpark takes advantage of the Calvin summer dress code since students will not need to change to splash in the waves of the waterpark. The plumbing accommodations of the waterpark allows for the CFAC auditorium to be filled with water for Viking ship fights at the end of Quest.

As a way to consolidate the dining halls, the formerly named Commons Dining hall will now be Carbohydrates Land and the old Knollcrest Dining Hall building will be turned into an Ada Bible Church campus.

SEE WATERPARK, PAGE 2 ▶

Bookstore to start selling engagement rings

BY BADY MURRSMAS
Long-a stories editor

Students preparing for that ring by spring need not look further than the campus bookstore.

Next week, the book store will be rolling out an engagement ring line, a spokesperson for the college confirmed.

"We thought it'd make it easier for students on campus without a car," spokesperson, Marry Me said. On top of regular engagement rings, students will also have the option of buying Calvin-themed rings, including a golden ring with maroon diamonds, and a diamond with a picture of President Le Roy's face engraved inside.

SEE RINGS, PAGE 2 ▶

The Kazoo is online at thekazoo.org. Check out our website for more stories that will blow you away!!

4th van Reken to blame for canceled Justin Timberlake concert

BY MEME MUTESA
Memes & Entertainment Editor

According to the Calvin College Student Activities Office, a surprise concert by Justin Timberlake that was slated for April has now officially been canceled. After weeks of speculation, Chimes staff found out that the cause for the cancellation had to do with cult-like behaviour surrounding Justin Timberlake on 4th van Reken.

4th van Reken, frequently shortened to 4vR, is composed of Calvin students who used to live on 3rd van Reken, the honors floor, and have since moved off campus or graduated. We don't know how long ago the JT obsession began, but to this day, there is still a portrait of Justin Timberlake hanging in the 3rd vR lobby.

SEE JUSTIN TIMS, PAGE 5 ▶

Try to find Waldo on every page!

Quotes of the week:

1. LeCroix tweeted on Monday: "We're going to make Calvin great again! We're going to build a wall so huge it will keep all the Hope students out!"
2. After banning Calvin students from his restaurant, a local owner said it was because "they were too darn Dutch!"
3. "I worked my way through college with zero debt! College kids are just lazy," explained an elderly gentleman at church to a girl working three jobs to get through the semester.